From the Vicarage, May 2016

Dear Friends,

May is the month that sees the Village Festival. To some extent May Festivals belong to the past, as many customs died out as people moved from the country to the towns to work in the new factories. However some aspects, particularly the dancing, are still enjoyed thanks to a revival in recent years. There is still, in some parts, dancing round the Maypole. Long coloured ribbons are tied to the top of the Maypole and held by the dancers. The dancers then all weave in and out and plait the ribbons. Then – provided they have learnt their steps properly – the ribbons are unplaited.

It is surprising that Morris Men are still allowed in this age of emancipation – but they are. Dress may vary, but most wear hats with ribbons, and carry large hankies or a stick – and they do it with ‘Bells On!!’ On their legs, that is. Stamping, and kicking, causes these bells to jingle wildly. The origins of this was the belief that the noise would drive evil spirits out of the ground and ensure a good harvest, and in all probability developed from Folk Dances.

These are dances that have been performed, sometimes for hundreds of years, which have their own particular characteristics. The more unusual ones include the Britannia Coconut Dancers at Bacup, Lancashire. In a gloriously politically insensitive way, these dancers blacken their faces, wear red and black skirts over black britches, and clap wooden discs as they dance. Often they are accompanied by a Betsy, a Fool or a Hobby-horse. A famous Hobby-horse, known as ‘oss’, can be seen at revels in Padstow, Cornwall. ‘oss’ is an odd creature, with a body hidden by a tarpaulin covering a six-foot hoop. He wears a mask and a tall pointed hat. All day he chases the women, catching one, now and then, beneath the tarpaulin. This is supposed to bring the ‘captured’ lady good luck! (Please note that this is Morris Dancing and not Maurice Dancing).

A famous Hobby-horse, of a different kind can be found in Minehead, Somerset. This takes the form of a ship, said to have been wrecked in 1772. Lovers of the late Terry Wogan will be familiar with the Cornish Floral Dance. Floral is a derivative of Furry – which itself derives from ‘Feria’ - a fair. I look forward to seeing you all on Saturday May 28th at our Burpham Village Fair.

In carefree moments, in times of joy or pleasure, on days of Village Fairs and festivity and celebration, help us to remember you, O God, and thus fill our day with praise and thankfulness
